CLASS PROPHECY

With my palette and brush in hand one early spring morn. I set up my easel in a nearby meadow and started to paint a colorful landscape. Upon its completion, I sat admiring my artistic miniature when raindrops suddenly began to fall. When the rain stopped, I gazed at my miniature and what a mess . . . Nevertheless, it formed a picture of the future. After straining my eyes, I saw a clear picture of the future. This is the way it looked:

Who's who in the news?? Bonita Lindau, U. S. Ambassador to Russia, has just been appointed to straighten out our indifferences. She may get along quite well with Molotov.

Elaine Shadonix has just been re-elected and is starting on her sixth term as the leading auctioneer of the Chicago Stock Market!

About to open the season with a famous opera featuring Chopin music, I see Joan Virgl, the most talented student of Rubinstein. The best known vocalist of the year, Jean Virgl, will accompany her.

Shirley McNeely, now Mrs. "Poison" Lindgren, seems to be quite busy with her household duties in addition to living up to her reputation as "seamstress of the neighborhood."

Having been in the cafe business for nine years, Marjorie Wotipka has unified the Wahoo cafes and is now the proprietor of the Wahoo Cafes Incorporated. Joy Swanberg seems quite proud of herself after having acquired the position of manager. Marcella Filbrandt has been employed as the firm's bookkeeper.

Behind the PX counter, I see Mary Lea McMahon earning pin money to help meet her and her GI husband's expenses.

The student dramatic director at Notre Dame is none other than Phyllis Dickinson.

The inseparable Ayers twins have at last parted. Amid the passengers on the "Queen of the Seas", I see June Ayers who is starting on her two year sight-seeing cruise around the world.

As my eyes rest upon a sign on which is inscribed "Marilyn's Beauty Salon for Men", I realize that the beauty operator could be none other than Marilyn Rochford. Listening through a keyhole, I learn that Marilyn Neidfelt is an accountant in New York's largest department store.

Who do I see doing rural charity nursing as well as part-time nursing at the old people's home taking care of the gents??? Who could it be but Joan Anderson?

Dorothy Jelinek has been teaching country school in western Nebraska for 22 years now. She is looking forward to retirement soon.

A second look is required to distinguish the two contented spinsters, Pat Rochford and Delores Striggow, sitting on the porch of their lonely house gazing at the sunset and recalling their tender high school memories.

Mary Ann Haba has at last attained her goal—the first woman president of the Mary Ann Zimmerman seems quite satisfied with her stenographic position for, as I see her, she is sitting on her employer's lap taking dictation.

Carol Jean Sabatka, World Wide Saleswoman No. 1, covers a very extensive area. She has built up quite a business for herself selling fur coats to the natives of the Sahara Desert and ice cream cones to the Eskimos in Siberia.

"See Honest Mary for a Good Used Car" is a sign that cannot help being seen by all. Mary Lanik has grown so attached to cars that she has invested her fortune in the "used car business".

Yvonne Focht, who has been stewardess on the Trans-Atlantic Air Lines for five years, is now recovering from a parachute jump when her plane "Sunbonnet Suzie" crashed in Algiers.

The manager of J. C. Penney in New York City, Grace Masek, has just appointed Dolores Maly as the company's bookkeeper.

Jackie Margrave has been teaching trigonometry, as well as being a psychologist, at Yale University.

After her success of swimming the English Channel, Janice Owens has decided upon a swimming career.

About to model the new styles in bathing suits, I see Ferne Holm who is, at present, modeling for Mr. Powers, the famous Hollywood producer.

Arlene Flessner, part-time bookkeeper at the John A. Gentlemen's Mortuary, seems quite contented in her line of work.

Violet Hollaway is now the new science teacher in Lincoln, Nebraska. She owes it all to the teaching that Mr. Magnusson gave her when she was a freshman. Her motto is: Grow old fast, learn slowly.

Janet Ayers now works in a side show with the Ringling Bros. Circus. She doesn't say what she does in her act but she is noted for the girl that has what Mae West didn't.

Two of the United States famous bandleaders are Bill Lindley and Joe Koch. They are making tours right now and are stationed at the dance hall in Weston. Their theme song is: "Money is the Root of all Evil." The two band leaders were made famous by Mr. Hoffman back in '50.

Miss Carol Hageman, rich owner of the World's Famous Restaurant, The Tycoon, sold half interest to Doc Houfek, wealthy Wyoming rancher. Mr. Houfek is said to be the wealthiest man in the United States.

The Reverend Donald Hanson, who is famous for his lectures on Spiritual Life, is now touring the nation with his beloved wife, Bernice Sabatka. They will discontinue their traveling as soon as Donald finishes preaching to the "Memphis cases".

Sunday we found out that Carolyn Bern, "The Gorgeous Reck of the Century", won the ladies wrestling championship of the world by the ever famous "Bern Neck Hold". Her manager, Terry Mendenhall, said that she was in fine shape for any fight.

The local football team, under the tutorship of coach Finley Walter, has just made the Midwest All-State Conference by knocking over The Maine Indians, 97-23.

Leo Cihal, the Wahoo fast man, broke the 440 at London in a cool 76 minutes. After the run they asked him if he was winded.

Mr. George Sedlacek, the nation's most eligible bachelor, is vacationing in Miami, Florida. The girls are driving him mad but he says, and I quote: "I JUST CAN'T RESIST THEIR LOVE FOR REAL HE-MEN."

JoAnn Vrana has just bought a huge ranch in southern Wyoming. She decided to learn the business from the ground-up before choosing between two farmer boys.

Keith Treptow has just landed in Argentina to enter into a bull fight. They say that he has a good chance to win because he was the champion bull thrower in Wahoo High School.

Robert Hohl and James Hancock were elected president and secretary of the ever-famous "HOBOSLUMS". Sauerkraut soup and dogburgers were served after the convention.

Stanley Kucera of Wahoo, Nebraska, has just inherited the Breuning Rendering Works, valued at least $1,000,000. He will start working there next month.

Robert Nelson recently announced the opening of his $30,000,000 bar in Wahoo, Nebr. Free entertainment will be furnished by the Virgl Sisters. It is located next to the J. C. Penney Store.

Louis Stava has just invented a car that will run on water. Of course, deluted with gas it will make less smoke. It's the greatest thing this nation has ever experienced. The new GO-BOW car will be on display at the Hinky-Dinky Store in Wahoo, on November 34, 1973. Free water will be served that afternoon.

This required hard work and unlimited time, but the result was well worth the effort.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The halls of Wahoo High School are seldom without music and the school year of 1949-1950 was no exception. Under the direction of Mr. Charles Hoffman and Mrs. Lillian Barnett, the vocal and instrumental groups took part in many activities.

One of the forty-five piece band's first activities was participation in the Ak-Sar-Ben Marching Band Contest in which they earned a third rating. In addition, the band also performed at football games, here and out-of-town, adding color and lending music to the games. Officers elected early in the year were: Jacqueline Margrave, student director; Robert Hohl, band manager; Patricia Gleeson, secretary; Carolyn Bern, uniform custodian; Joseph Koch, librarian.

No one who attended pep rallies or basketball games will forget the pep band, which, with its lively, noisy rhythm, aided fans in supporting their team. The organization was composed of nine members and was under the leadership of Joan Jensen.

The thirty-two piece orchestra was composed of high school and grade school musicians and played for senior and junior class plays. Officers of the orchestra included: Donna Samek, student director; Sally Snelling, secretary-treasurer; Jeannine Guess, librarian. The annual concert given by the band and orchestra was presented in the spring to a large audience.

The vocal department was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Anderson until her resignation in November when Mrs. Lillian Barnett continued the work. This department consisted of chorus, boys' glee club, and two girls' glee clubs. The accompanists for the groups were Barbara Johnson, Marvelle Clark, and Carolyn Eliason. Elected to serve as librarians were: girls' glee, Dolores Maly, Joyce Kuhr, Jean Havelka, and Fern Holm; chorus, Kenneth Kuncle, Bob Hohl; boys' glee, Burton Johnson. The vocal department helped in making the Christmas program a success and also presented a spring concert.

The annual music clinic held in Norfolk November 17-19 was attended and enjoyed by eight Wahoo High School students. Participating in this event were June and Janet Ayers, Jean Virgl, Ray Keefer, and Mary Lee Ludi representing the chorus; Mary Lea McMahan, the band; Donna Samek and Bernadine Vogler, the orchestra.

The annual district music contest, held April 14 and 15 at Fremont, attracted many soloists and small groups as well as the larger vocal and instrumental organizations.

EAST NEBRASKA SEVEN CONFERENCE

Principally, the E. N. S. conference was one of the toughest conferences competing in Nebraska. The teams were above average, and the backs were unusually scrappy. Plattsmouth presented a massive forward wall, teamed with several versatile backs, and loomed an early favorite for the season. Ashland offered a surprising reserve strength, but was destined to fail because of insufficient dependable ball carriers. They offered a big resistance, however, because of rugged defensive work and clever coaching. Blair's inconsistency and varying line play are the only evident reasons owing to their failure. The team itself was well-balanced and boasted two of the best backs in the conference. The other teams, Valley, College View, and Bellevue were average; but could not meet the rising competition of the rest of the league. Wahoo caught fire after a slow, but informative start, and proceeded to win the conference; later they seriously threatened one of the ten coveted positions in the state ratings. Wahoo looks forward to a favorable season next year, but looks not heedlessly to the appalling lack of reserves.

The season for the warriors reached a dramatic close when the teams clashed for the conference championship at Ashland. The unparalleled rivalry between the two schools added a unique aspect to the game. Every year, the two teams face each other in a duel which represents a rivalry that carries a significance far beyond the meaning of an ordinary football game. The outcome of the game would signify either an embittered defeat or a jubilant victory. The game was fiercely contested before a crowd of almost two thousand rabid football fans. The deciding points came to Wahoo within twenty-five seconds of the final gun. A field goal climaxed a final drive which led an inspired team down the field to the inevitable score.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON

The Warriors finished a comparably poor season with a loss to Tekamah in the District Basketball Tournament at Fremont. The season was undeniably poor, due to a lack of height, and the loss of Ray Lank, a last year's choice for All-Conference center. The Warriors did not finish the season in pitiable despair, however, and before they bowed out of the 1949-50 season they won a gallant victory from a lustful Schuyler team. The team reached a deplorable low when they suffered a terrific walloping from Mead. Later they returned to scare the highly touted Plattsmouth quintet, and later lose a toss-up to Blair's powerful Bears. The only reason for the shameful scores of the midseason was a lack of confidence and team spirit. After regaining their confidence, the Warriors proceeded to become a worthy opponent for any of the Class B schools in Nebraska.

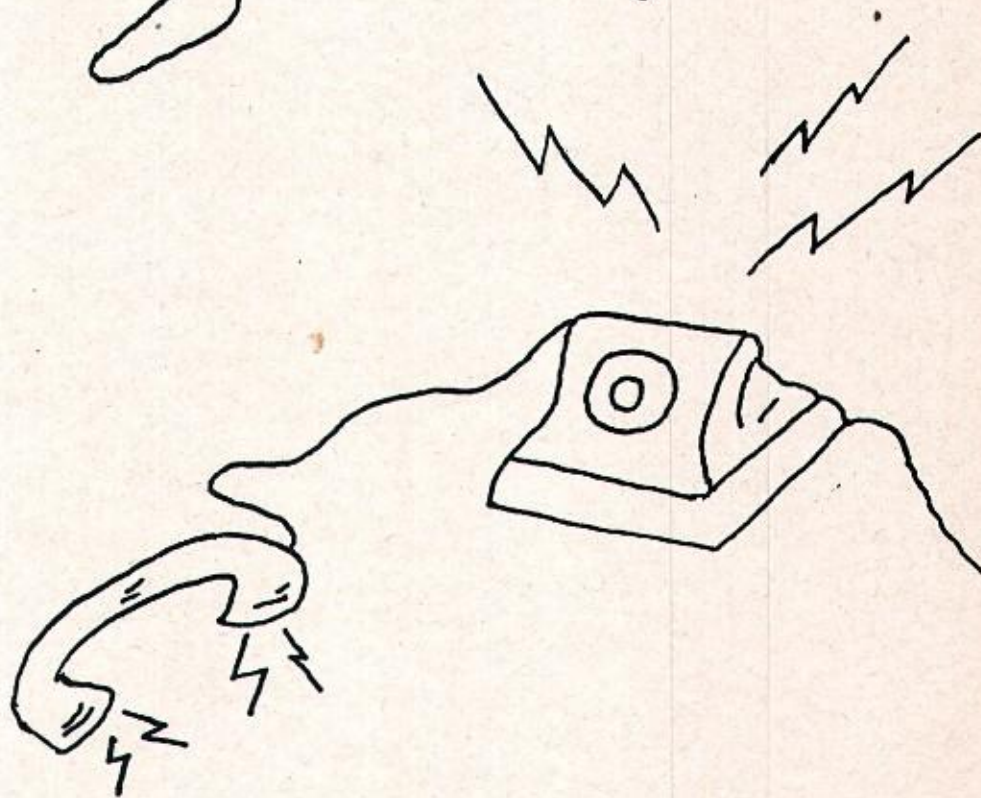

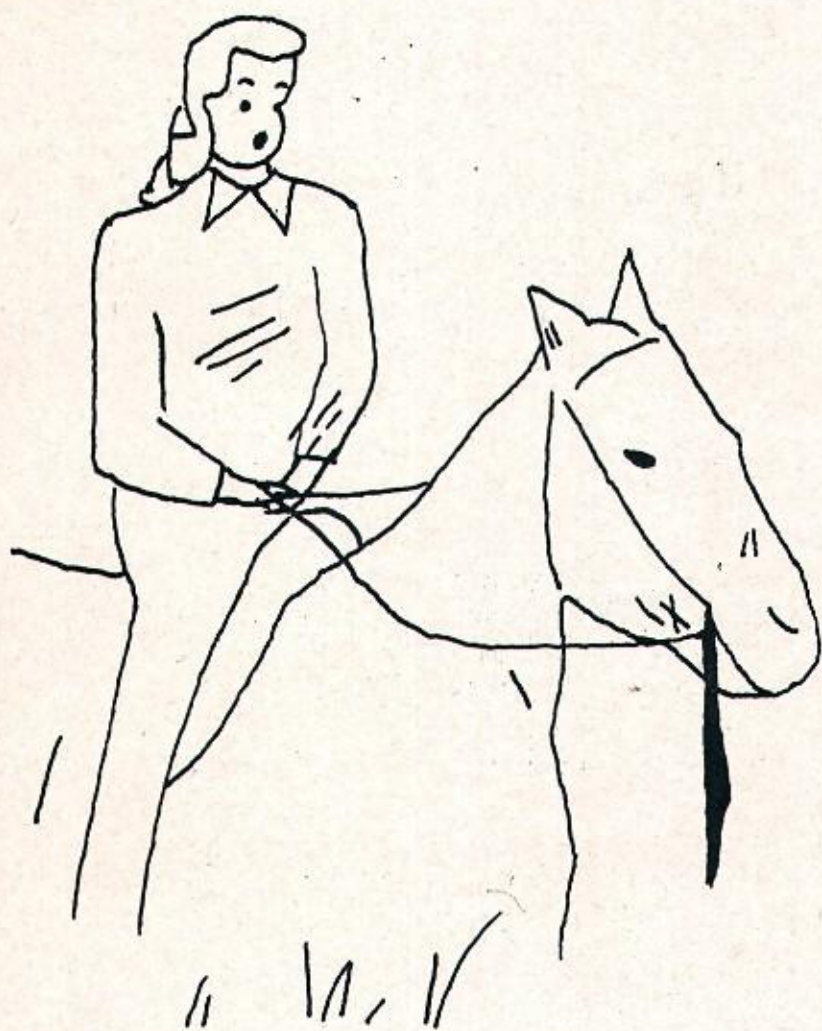

IN CONCLUSION

With this annual, we, the seniors of 1950, mark the end of our four years in high school. Preserved in this book are a thousand memories of what to most of us were the four best years of our lives—years of events and people not easily forgotten. Among its pages are the records of our achievements in many fields. May they serve as inspirations to those who follow us. Here, however, are not our hopes and ambitions, our visions of things yet to be accomplished. Those are still only dreams which will be fulfilled with the help of the knowledge gained here in high school—knowledge not only in the practical arts but in the art of living successfully with our fellow men.

Today well-lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope.
